Almond opportunities from imagination to realization

Together, we can create food and beverages that answer consumer demands for taste and nutrition.

Almonds contribute protein, heart healthy unsaturated fats, fiber, vitamins, and minerals in final products. They also help enhance the sensory experience with color, crunch, and texture.

Our Almond Innovation Center® is home to technical resources, including analytical, functional, and sensory performance testing, to bring these benefits of almonds to life.

Pairing our applied almond expertise with your development team can deliver nutritious and desirable products across a range of applications.

Growing With Care

As a co-operative, we have one of the largest almond agriculture stewardship programs in the world. That means collaboration opportunities to support your sustainability goals and differentiate your brand in the market.

Nature's Powerhouse of Benefits

Packed with heart-healthy unsaturated fats, fiber, antioxidant Vitamin E, and magnesium, almonds are a delicious addition to any product.

Dairy Alternatives

Almond butter is a label-friendly, dairy-free substitute that can help your product match the color, taste, and creaminess of traditional dairy products. With minimal processing and superior functionality, almond butter is a great alternative to dairy without the off-odors and flavors found in other plant-based alternatives.
